About the Rail-Trail Council of NEPA

The Rail-Trail Council (RTC) is a non-profit organization working to develop recreational trails on abandoned rail beds in northeastern Pennsylvania.

The RTC was organized in 1991 and has since acquired 38 miles of Right of Way. 10 miles of the acquired rail bed have undergone extensive drainage and surface improvements. Another 7 miles of trail was resurfaced this past year from Herrick to Ararat. The D&H half marathon is run on part of the improved trail segment.

RTC intends to continue trail improvements despite their substantial cost. Funding may be obtained from Federal and State agencies, but even this source often requires RTC to match anywhere from 20 – 50%. The D&H Distance Run is one of the ways such funds are raised.

The D&H Rail-Trail extends north from Simpson, PA following the Upper Lackawanna River. It passes through Forest City and then Union Dale after passing the Stillwater Dam. It then goes through Herrick, Thompson and Starrucca. As it continues north, it begins to follow the Starrucca Creek and then enters Lanesboro where it passes under the Starrucca Viaduct -- a spectacular stone railroad bridge. A few miles further north, it meets the New York border.

The D&H Rail-Trail is linked to trails to the south and is part of a master plan for a series of trails that will extend from Washington Crossing PA all the way to upstate New York.

All athletes registered by August 17th will receive a T-shirt.

Course Descriptions

- The 13.1 mile race will be an 'out and back' run on the D&H Rail-Trail from Forest City to Union Dale. Course is USATF Certified.

- The course is basically flat with a slight upgrade going northward and a slight downgrade for the return and finish.
- Water stations will be approximately every 2 miles.
- Post race snacks will be available.
- The race is a great tune-up for those training for the Steamtown Marathon and a great race for those attempting longer distance runs.
- Race participants will be limited to 400. Registration packets can be picked up race day starting 7:30 AM.
